Patent Law Changes from the Americans Invents Act
Devan Padmanabhan, Winthrop and Weinstine

President Obama signed the America Invents Act on September 16, 2011, dramatically changing U.S. patent law. The AIA will have profound effects on the ways in which patents are obtained, enforced, and challenged in the United States. This presentation will provide an overview of the Act and the significance for those seeking to obtain patent protection or facing claims of patent infringement.
